Responding is Safe, Easy & Important

- The decennial census is North Carolina's once-per-decade opportunity to bring tax dollars, already paid, back to our communities – representing more than $18,000 per person.
 - Individual data collected by the census is protected by law for 72 years and cannot be shared with service providers, other government agencies or law enforcement.
 - Respond online – wherever you have internet access. You can also respond by phone or mail. Census support is offered in more than 50 languages.
 - The 2020 Census will not ask for citizenship status, religious affiliation, social security numbers, financial information or donations.
 - This is the one opportunity everyone has a voice and is counted – regardless of age, race, citizenship, voter registration, religion, place of residence or family status.
