Rural Advancement Foundation International - USA (RAFI-USA) Agricultural Reinvestment Fund	RAFI-USA's Agricultural Reinvestment Fund grant program, funded by the NC Tobacco Trust Fund Commission, assists entrepreneurial and innovative farmers and collaborative groups in 20 NC counties in developing new sources of agricultural income. RAFI-USA initiated the grant program in 1997, originally known as the Tobacco Communities Reinvestment Fund, to help beginning and socially disadvantaged farmers in historically tobacco-dependent communities transition their farms to become more economically viable. Today, the grant program is dedicated to helping all types of farmers transform and strengthen their farms, enhancing their sustainability and financial viability. In turn, grant recipients are able to demonstrate new ideas and innovative models for farm profitability to other farmers in their communities. Farmers/collaborative farmer projects in 20 NC counties are eligible. See website for more	Up to $9,000 to individual farmers and up to $11,000 for collaborative farmer projects located in North Carolina.	At least a 10% cost-share contribution. Applicants can include time contributed in-kind to the project as a part of the cost-share contribution to the total project budget.	https://rafiusa.org/grants/
