GEOLOGICAL SURVEY SECTION

The Geological Survey Section examines, surveys, and maps the geology, mineral resources, and topography of the State to encourage the wise conservation and use of these resources by industry, commerce, agriculture, and government agencies for the general welfare of the citizens of North Carolina.

The Section conducts basic and applied research projects in environmental geology, mineral resource exploration, and systematic geologic mapping. Services include identifying rock and mineral samples submitted by citizens and providing consulting services and specially prepared reports to agencies that need geological information.

The Geological Survey Section publishes Bulletins, Economic Papers, Information Circulars, Educational Series, Geologic Maps, and Special Publications. For a list of publications or more information about the Section contact the Geological Survey Section, Division of Land Resources, at Post Office Box 27687, Raleigh, North Carolina 27611-7687, or call (919) 733-2423.

INTRODUCTION

This report identifies the active and inactive mining operations permitted by the Land Quality Section, Division of Land Resources, as of May 1992, and provides information about sources of geological information in North Carolina. This information is made available because of a demand for it by the mining industry, governmental agencies, and the public.

North Carolina produces a significant quantity and dollar value of industrial minerals. These include clays, feldspar, gemstones, scrap mica, peat, sand and gravel (construction and industrial), stone (crushed and dimension), pyrophyllite, lithium minerals, olivine, and phosphate rock. Talc is not produced in North Carolina. Estimated production by value in 1991 decreased by 8.4% from that of 1990. The value dropped from $546.6 million in 1990 to $517.2 million in 1991 according to the U.S. Bureau of Mines’ annual preliminary report, The Mineral Industry of North Carolina in 1991. Despite the decline the U.S. Bureau of Mines report noted the State "... continued to lead the Nation in the quantity and value of lithium minerals, feldspar, scrap mica, olivine, and pyrophyllite produced. The State continued to lead the Nation in the production of clay used for the manufacture of bricks and ranked second in the quantity of common clay mined. Overall, North Carolina’s rank dropped from 20th in the value of all mineral commodities produced in 1990 to 21st in 1991.” Significant decreases in the value of crushed stone, as well as feldspar, scrap mica, both construction and industrial sand and gravel, and pyrophyllite, more than offset small to moderate increases in the value of clays, lithium minerals, olivine, phosphate rock, and peat according to the Bureau of Mines. The State is a major producer of phosphate rock.

The Mining Act of 1971 (G.S. 74-46 through G.S. 74-74) requires that any person or firm wishing to engage in mining that will affect one acre or more in surface area must first obtain a valid state mining permit. The Land Quality Section, Division of Land Resources, administers the Mining Act. Other permits that may pertain to mineral extraction and processing, including air and water permits, are issued by the Division of Environmental Management. The Department of Environment, Health, and Natural Resources (DEHNR) recently published a guide to environmental regulations entitled the 1991 North Carolina Environmental Permit Directory which is "a general introduction to environmental regulations and an overview of requirements governing the wise use and protection of the state’s natural resources." The directory is available in the regional offices or from the department’s Division of Planning and Assessment, P.O. Box 27687, Raleigh, NC 27611-7687 at a cost of $5.00 (plus 6% sales tax for sales in the State). The telephone number is (919) 733-6376.
PERMIT FEE SCHEDULE

The 1990 North Carolina General Assembly authorized permit application processing fees for mining as well as dams and erosion and sedimentation control (see North Carolina Administrative Code, Title 15A, Department of Environment, Health, and Natural Resources, Chapter 5, Mining as amended January 1, 1991 [T15A:05 TOC-1]). Table 1 lists established fees for mining permits.

* Acres for new permits and renewal permits means the total acreage at the site. Acres for major modification of permits means that area of land affected by the modification within the permitted mine area, or any additional land that is to be disturbed and added to an existing permitted area, or both.

Note: A nonrefundable $50.00 permit application fee is required for minor permit modifications. Minor permit modifications include ownership transfers, name changes and bond substitutions. A minor permit modification also includes lands added to a permitted area, outside the minimum permit buffer zone requirements, where no plans for mining related disturbance of the added lands have been approved. In addition, a nonrefundable $50.00 permit application processing fee is required for permit renewal for an inactive site, provided that any previously disturbed areas have been reclaimed in a manner acceptable to the department. Once renewed, prior to initiating any mining related disturbance, an application for a major modification and a processing fee shall be submitted to and approved by the department. All other changes are considered major modifications.
DATA ORGANIZATION

This report is organized by county, and then by permit number in that county. The following database categories are provided for each permit: owner, permit number, mine name, street (mailing address), city, state, zipcode (zip_5), contact person (mine_ct), telephone, status (a=active, i=inactive), and commodity code. The following are the commodity codes used in the database and in Figures 1 and 2.

MINING STATISTICS FOR ACTIVE AND INACTIVE MINES

The most recent year for which mining statistics for active and inactive mines are available is 1990. Table 2 lists, by commodity, the total number of permits, net acres disturbed in 1990, total acres reclaimed by the operator and released by DEHNR in 1990, total acres affected and unreclaimed, an estimate of total acres permitted, percentage of acres mined versus acres under permit, and percentage of permits by commodity versus total number of permits. Comparison with 1989 is also provided through Table 2. Figure 1 shows by commodity the total number of acres affected versus the total number of acres permitted. Figure 2 shows the number of mining permits by commodity.

APPLIED MINERALS RESEARCH AND GOVERNMENT RESOURCES IN NORTH CAROLINA

Applied minerals research is active in North Carolina. The Minerals Research Laboratory, a unit of North Carolina State University, is located in Asheville. The Laboratory develops new and improved processes to extract minerals from ore deposits and conducts research for the development of mineral resources in North Carolina, other states, and foreign countries. Projects are undertaken as sponsored (fee basis) or State-supported projects. The laboratory conducts sponsored and unsponsored beneficiation projects on many commodities, especially industrial minerals. The laboratory can conduct a wide variety of mineral dressing and pilot plant studies. Its facilities include mineral processing equipment and analytical support facilities for batch and continuous pilot plant research to develop workable flowsheets, and to produce large samples for customer evaluation. Further information can be obtained from Mr. James T. Tanner Jr., NCSU Minerals Research Laboratory, 180 Coxe Avenue, Asheville, NC 28801. The telephone number is (704) 251-6155; the FAX number is (704) 251-6381.

The North Carolina Geological Survey provides basic geologic information. Current studies include geologic mapping, stratigraphic framework studies, mineral resource investigations, and limited environmental and engineering studies. It maintains a sample repository which includes drill core, cuttings, and geophysical borehole records. The repository contents are in a computer database to facilitate information retrieval. The geological survey has a modern heavy minerals laboratory.

* Statistics are based upon Annual Reclamation Reports submitted by each mine operator and are validated by regional office field staff. Data should be considered approximate because data in the statewide database is continuously being updated.

 This does not reflect reclamation in progress.
Selected projects of the state geological survey include: assessment of offshore heavy mineral and sand resources investigations, heavy mineral investigations in the Fall Zone in conjunction with regional geologic mapping, and preparation of a geochemical atlas of the state.

Geological mapping at a scale of 1:24,000 continues in progress near Raleigh and Asheville. Contract geological mappers supplement staff geologists. Reconnaissance subsurface geological mapping has been completed in Brunswick and Onslow counties. Reconnaissance studies of offshore heavy mineral potential continue under a multi-year program to examine vibracores and integrated shallow high-resolution seismic studies. The need for beach nourishment on eroding barrier islands has prompted a new multiyear program of shallow high-resolution seismic surveys offshore to assess the potential for aggregate resources. The initial survey will be off the northern part of the State. Subsequent studies may include recovering vibracores for grain-size determinations. Work is in progress on mica, kyanite, and garnet resources in portions of western North Carolina.

The geological survey has various publications on mineral commodities including feldspar, silica, phosphate, gold, titanium, lithium, building stone, clay, high alumina-minerals, and talc. These reports and guidebooks focus on different mineral producing districts in North Carolina. The geological survey also has geologic maps at several scales but only about six percent of the State is covered by 1:24,000 geologic mapping.

The Department of Economic and Community Development (also known as the Department of Commerce) and the Governor's office provide information on business development to domestic and international clients. The state's geographic information system, the Center for Geographic Information and Analysis, has extensive digital data useful for plant and mine siting and environmental impact studies. Users should contact Ms. Karen Sideralis, Director, P.O. Box 27687, Raleigh, NC 27611-7687. The telephone number is (919) 733-2090.

North Carolina State University's Analytical Instrumentation Facility, part of the Engineering Research Services Division, has a modern, well equipped laboratory. It contains state-of-the-art analytical instruments which are available to characterize and to analyze a wide variety of materials. Prospective users should contact the Facility at (919) 515-7501 to discuss material analysis and prices of analytical services.

FURTHER INFORMATION

Questions regarding the Mining Act of 1971 and permit fees should be directed to Mr. Tracy E. Davis, State Mining Specialist, Land Quality Section, Division of Land Resources, Department of Environment, Health, and Natural Resources, P.O. Box 27687, Raleigh, North Carolina, 27611-7687. The telephone number is (919) 733-4574.

For further information about the State's geology, mineral resources, topographic maps, orthophotoquadrangles, and remotely sensed data, contact the North Carolina Geological Survey, P.O. Box 27687, Raleigh, North Carolina, 27611-7687. The telephone number is (919) 733-2423.

There is complete 1:24,000-scale topographic map and orthophotoquadrangle coverage for North Carolina. These are revised systematically. The geological survey does not sell topographic maps; however, a current reference collection is available for study. Orthophotoquadrangles are reproduced on-site at a nominal cost. The geological survey provides free searches to identify federal and state agencies or other organizations holding air photographs and remotely sensed data using the most current data on CD-ROM files. The geological survey has a western regional office located in Asheville. The regional office telephone number is (704) 251-6208; request connection to the geological survey.

Additional copies of this report may be obtained from the Geological Survey Section, Division of Land Resources, P.O. Box 27687, Raleigh, North Carolina, 27611-7687. The telephone number is (919) 733-2423.
