

DSDHH Sign Language Interpreter and Transliterators Directory

This list of sign language interpreters is for informational purposes only. The Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Services for the Deaf and the Hard of Hearing (DSDHH) does not endorse any particular interpreter. Inclusion on this list only verifies that the interpreter has opted to be listed and does possess a current North Carolina Interpreting/Transliterating License.

CUED SPEECH TRANSLITERATORS

Cued Speech Transliterating is different from sign language, although both are a visual mode of communication, Cued Speech uses handshapes and mouth movements to represent phonemes of a spoken language.

Cued Language Transliterating National Certification Exam (CLTNCE), Transliteration Skills Certificate (TSC)

CAECS-E and CAECS-R (Cued American English Competency Screening)

The CAECS-E provides a framework for assessing basic expressive cueing mechanics, from, prosody and application in discourse.

The CAECS-R provides a framework for assessing basic cue reading skills at the word level.

Both competency screenings are required in order to obtain the Cued Language Transliterating National Certification (CLTNCE, TSC)
