About the Institute

The NC Community Transitions Institute (“The Institute”) is a learning initiative for professionals who support individuals to transition to a home and community-based setting. The Institute is a hands-on, collaborative learning opportunity designed to bring together diverse stakeholders who support transitioning individuals and to develop best practices throughout the lifecycle of a transition. The Institute incorporates:

- A 2-day Transitions Symposium exploring community-based resources important to support individuals in a quality transition landscape (Required Attendance)
- A three-day intensive session on improving person-centered collaboration and communication skills inspired by motivational interviewing techniques and person-centered thinking practices (Required Attendance)
- A two-day deep dive workshop in Motivational Interviewing (Optional Attendance)
- A two-day deep dive workshop in Person-Centered Thinking (Optional Attendance)

Institute Goals

The Institute builds off existing person-centered thinking practices and motivational interviewing techniques. However, the Institute furthers these principles, practices, and techniques providing practical strategies for applying them in transition-specific contexts.

The goals of the Institute include:

1. Providing quality content that is immediately relevant to the practice of supporting a transitioning individual.
2. Strengthening Institute members' knowledge of, and utilization of, person-centered practices using collaborative communication techniques inspired by motivational interviewing in transition specific contexts.
3. Fostering professional collaboration and networking among Institute members.
4. Delivering a learning opportunity that enhances organizational capability to support person-centered transition practices.
5. Developing leadership competencies to sustain quality transition practices.
6. Generating clear recommendations for developing and advancing a Transition Policy Agenda
