Class Concept
This is beginning level professional consultative work providing information, guidance and assistance to clients seeking employment and employers seeking workers through programs administered by the Department of Commerce, Division of Workforce Solutions (DWS) and local Workforce Development boards in a local career center environment. Employees may be devoted exclusively or in part to providing services to specific categories of workers like veterans, disabled veterans, agricultural workers, older workers, or offenders. Positions perform outreach activities and provide employment related services, including priority services when legislatively appropriate, using an in-depth knowledge of specific rules and regulations pertaining to targeted occupations. Case management requires interviewing, counseling, research of precedent court and past practice decisions, study of labor market conditions and current trends in workforce training and development, and knowledge of other agencies’ programs for referral purposes.

Work assignments include job placement and employer consultative services, and program eligibility determination for a number of DWS program areas such as Worker Opportunity Tax Credit, Food Stamps, Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA), North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), Work First, and Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA). Employees may refer clients to appropriate agencies for other services needed. Decisions are based on analysis of information obtained from client interview, supporting documentation, survey and occupational data, interpretation of changing federal and state programs, and knowledge of programs and services offered by other agencies for clients with multiple problems. Employees utilize agency guidelines and federal and state standards. Guidelines are generally specific for determination of program eligibility with some of the newer programs having less program information and policy for guidance. More difficult decisions are referred to higher level supervisory staff and program specialists in the field or in the central office. Work is performed under the general direction of a higher level supervisor or manager in accordance with established work plans.
