If employees work time outside their normal schedule in an overtime period, as defined in 25 NCAC 01D .1900, in which they also have taken time off, the time outside their normal schedule offsets the time that the employee intended to cover with available leave. The Workers' Compensation Act prevents employers from firing or demoting employees in retaliation for pursuing remedies under the Act but does not speak to reemployment after an employee has been released by the treating physician to return to work. If an employee who has been on workers' compensation leave has reached maximum medical improvement and been released to return to work by the treating physician refuses suitable employment in keeping with his capability, the employer may request stop payment of compensation and implement dismissal procedures.
