Fun Facts
- The park was established in 1982.
- A 12,000-acre reservoir with seven access areas allows for a variety of recreational activities.
- The dam was built to control damaging floods from the Neuse River and to provide drinking water for surrounding communities.
- The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers began constructing the dam in 1978 and completed it in 1981.
- The Corps owns the recreation area land, but the state manages it for conservation and public use.
